Whenever I think about you,
I get goose bumps!

5/31/83

Dear Marge,

I'm "floating"! It was a wonderful weekend and I'm feeling really good about what's happened between us.

Thank you for sharing so much of yourself with me. I'm hoping that you're O.K. with it all now that you're away.

Actually you're still here - in my thoughts and in my heart. You're in my life and I'm bursting with feelings that I'm afraid to put into words.

I'd tell you what happens when I think about geese,
but you'd never believe it.

The weekend seems light years away, but it is coming and I'm looking forward with much anticipation to seeing you again.

Met Love,

Dear Marge,

I'm writing again because I'd really like to keep in touch with you, though I didn't manage to get in touch when I was in the States. (Jean tried to phone when I was with them, but you were maybe away.) I don't remember what I said in my last letter so forgive me if I repeat myself. (I just know I was excessively apologetic about leaving NCC, I don't know why!) I'm still a Friend but never seem to go - I keep meaning to, (really!) and was more hopeful about, and involved in, feminist stuff connected with my root church, (Church of England) when I changed direction back towards that three years ago and resigned N.C.C. membership, so it was quite a positive way of leaving. I did, as a matter of fact, go through a whole thing of rejecting Christianity (finally) in which mourning a killed Lover was a kind of catalyst, but came through it feeling quite a lot stronger.

I won't be posting this letter for a while after writing it because I'm not sure of the address and I'm trying to get Jean to send it me. It's been so long since we wrote that

I'm not sure what else to say. About my own life - I've been in the country in North Wales, and am trying to get organised around moving back to London. I'm still not a Rich Famous Novelist. About my trip to the States - yes, it was fun, thank-you, though New Orleans seems a heavy city. About things I'm involved in - London Christian Feminists and connected groups, I've been working mainly on a recommendation on inclusive language for the Methodist Hymnbook Committee, know any good new songs we can recommend to them. Gay Christian Movement, and, slightly, the (Anglican) Movement for the Ordination of Women, but that's problematic. (It's supposed to be an umbrella group bringing together different people working on that, so it's dominated by people who don't want to do anything that makes the church feel threatened; which means in practice that they don't want to do anything. Except form ^{internal} committees and ego-trips; which they've got away with at first while all is idealistic little Feminists were warbling away about being non-hierarchical. But I digress. I also bitch.) About MCC - I feel concerned and angry at what I know of the present, kind of, undercurrents, but I have no business to, unless I get involved again, and I can't even get it on to visit the London church in Balham, so skip that. No - actually, I do care. For what it's worth. I suppose if it actually was easy to make a church liberally open to literally everybody some of the others would have made it by now. Anyway, Hey, I didn't mean to ~~be~~ be so cranky in the last letter, but I did feel grateful for your incredible help when I felt isolated, and bad at losing touch, so it would be nice if you felt like writing back.

Love,
Polly.

Dear Reverend Lagona,

I was pleased to have an opportunity to listen to the discussion concerning Gay Rights presented on Channel 7's Mass Reaction on May 5, 1977. I found the analogy that 10% of the mammalian kingdom has been found to be naturally bisexual and that such percentage may not surprisingly be found among humans very interesting.

I was surprised to find myself recently engaged in a discussion in which a friend of mine stated that he would vote against the equal rights amendment because that would mean equal rights for gay people, including the right to marry, and that this was directly contrary to the bible. I am not familiar enough with the bible to respond. I do think that such statements ^{if found in the bible} may be explained by historical and sociological circumstances existing at the time of the biblical author. However, I cannot respond rationally because I do not know the quotes or the context of the quotes to which he is referring in the bible. In addition, I find that a position which denies people equal rights based on the bible extremely difficult to respond to calmly.

Since you were introduced as a fundamentalist

I thought you would be very knowledgeable concerning the passages, which I am told refer to homosexuals per se, which people use to argue that gay rights are against the will of God.

Could you please provide me with those passages of the bible referring to homosexuality which people use to demonstrate that gay rights should be denied?

I am enclosing a check for $10.00 for your Church and thank you very much for your attention to my request.

Very sincerely,

Elizabeth Sharawara

Dear Friends:

*Dear Mary
Please pray for us!*

A young member of the community is, at the time of this writing, lying gravely ill in a Los Angeles hospital. His name is Tim Justice. Recently, when we were in Alaska, Tim fell while dancing at a "disco" in Anchorage and injured his head. Aside from a few stitches, we felt at the time that the damage was superficial.

His condition seemed to deteriorate on a daily basis until he was rushed to surgery for a radical craniotomy to remove blood clots in the brain resulting from massive hemorrhage.

Although he is still listed as gravely critical, the doctors do hold out some hope that he will survive. However, it is doubtful that he will regain the use of a paralyzed right arm and leg, or regain normal speech. This young man desperately needs help.

If he survives we're looking at months in a nursing home....physical therapy, wheelchair, walker, etc., and the inability to go back to work. Prayers are being offered by hundreds of MCC friends who have met Tim, and a "Tim Justice Fund" has sprung up overnight. Tim can't talk now, or ask for help, so I'm asking for him.

To show my personal appreciation for any help you may give, I'm going to send an original lithograph suitable for framing, to each and every person who is willing to contribute $1.00 to the "Tim Justice Fund". I personally guarantee you more than value received for your donation.

In addition to your free lithograph (valued @ $25.00) you will have a chance to win a signed and numbered original work by Salvadore Dali at a value between $800.00 and $1,000.00.

Remember the word of Jesus Christ,... "Whatever you do unto these, the least of my Brethren, you do unto me". We ask your generous participation. Whether or not you are able to contribute, we earnestly beg for your prayers for a complete recovery for Tim.

Contributions should be sent to:

the Rev. L. Robert Arthur--MCC
P. O. Box 65206
Los Angeles, California 90065.

Rev. Bob has generously agreed to administrate the Tim Justice Fund.

Send your name and full address with your contribution so you may receive your lithograph and have a chance at the Dali drawing. We make this appeal in Christ's name and in His love.....

GOD BLESS each of you...

Bob
BOB HILPERT

P.S. Please make our free lithograph offer known to your church family.

UNITED STATES ANTARCTIC RESEARCH PROGRAM.

The United States Antarctic Program is managed and funded by the National Science Foundation, Washington, D. C. It supports an extensive research program involving almost every major scientific discipline.

Other countries too, have scientific programs in the Antarctic. These are co-ordinated through the international scientific Committee on Antarctic Research (SCAR).

The Antarctic Treaty of 1961 helped establish the continent as a huge scientific laboratory where all the participating countries work together in an atmosphere of co-operation and goodwill for the benefit of all mankind.

There are now 19 nations which have acceded to the treaty. Ten of these are actively engaged in Antarctica and support about 50 scientific research stations there. The United States maintains four year-round stations — McMurdo Station, Amundsen-Scott South Pole Station, Siple Station, and Palmer Station.

Operation Deep Freeze the popular name of the U.S. navy's support program for American scientists, has enabled man to exist for long periods, and in relative comfort, in the coldest, driest, windiest and most inhospitable place on earth.

This is a complex and challenging operation involving the movement of thousands of tons of cargo and the flying of hundreds of scientists and support personnel to isolated research sites. This massive support effort makes it possible for the scientists to devote almost all of their time to research.

Dear Marge,

I got out of touch with you years ago, which was terrible - really ungrateful after all the help and support you gave me. I just cut off from MCC people when going through crises of my own, (I'd previously switched back to the Anglican church anyway, amicably, because there was a lot going on there ^{in early 1978} that I was involved in, about women's ordination) but I had no business forgetting to be in touch with people like you. Jean asked Jean how I was at General Conference - that is to say,

Jean Cralley asked Jean White - so I finally got round to writing to her and she told me where you were.
So how are you?

© C.A.G.

Without getting into my whole life story, I now live in the Welsh countryside, (hence the notepaper, it's an attempt to kid my city friends that I'm really rural and into growing my own food.) I visit London a lot when I can afford to, (I'm out of work again!) and tell everybody I'm writing My Great Novel. I last visited MCC when Tray came in May.

I'll be in the States in late November, December, but not over your side - Jean + Maria's, then New York, Philadelphia, and down to New Orleans for Christmas, staying with different friends. It would maybe be good to meet you if you were going to happen to be in any of those places. (I know there's no reason why you should be!) And if you ever need a place to stay in North Wales....?

Anyway, I'm really sorry to lose touch.

Love,

Polly Black.

SOME CHRISTMAS REMINDERS

May the Christmas gifts remind you of God's greatest gift,
His only begotten Son.

May the Christmas candles remind you of Him who is the "Light of the world."

May the Christmas cheer remind you of Him who said "Be of good cheer."

May the Christmas bell remind you of the proclamation of His birth.

May the Christmas carols remind you of the song the angels sang
"Glory to God in the highest."

AND

May the Christmas season remind you in every way of Jesus Christ your King.

Remember

I still miss you.

Dear Marge,

Thanks for your note and your news about John Ayres. I hope he'll be in a place someday to minister with you - he could learn a lot!

We're both planning on being in NYC for Gay Prides Day - Philadelphia always attends en masse, so you'll be seeing us! We, too, hope to spend some time with you now that we're closer!

Congrats on Boston!!! We're sure it's a good match & that God will bless both you & MCC... We expect to hear great things soon!

Sorry about the chicken-scratch, but the typewriter broke right in the middle of District Conference reports - perfect timing as usual!

See you in NY!

Love,

Bruce & Frank

Have a safe trip across - you'll be in our prayers.

you will - I'd really like to be an "ear" for you about Boston.

Thanks for all you did for my friend Connie

have her let go of all of us...

Thanks also for being who you are - Look forward to talking to you soon - fore -

Dear Marge and Sheila;

I do hope that this letter finds you both in good spirits and good health!?! I also hope the kids are doing ok! We seem to be doing alright, I guess; just busy. I just looked at our calender and discovered that we will be busy for quite some time. We aren't able to do much during the week but we only do make up for it on the weekends; Amen! The very few and precious time we have not had things to do on Sat. were rare. We usually worried that maybe we had forgotten something important. Oh, well!

Sheila, dear, do you remember, during the Gay Lit. Workshop, the discussion about the poetry booklet? Well, I have been in touch with Dr. Follett concerning this little project. Due to his rather heavy involvement with fund raising for STI he felt that he would not be able to undertake the work of the booklet himself. I, therefore, stuck my foot in my mouth and suggested that maybe those of us at the workshop could pull one together. He agreed, of course! He sent me the names of a couple of people to contact as resource people. I have already dashed off a letter to one of the people he mentioned. I guess you could say I have started the old ball rolling I intend to get a hold of some of the other people that were present at the workshop and see what they think of the idea. I would greatly appreciate any ideas that you have to offer. At the moment I am not sure what direction the booklet is going to take. Just the idea that it is off and running is exciting enough for me right now. I'll keep you informed on the progress of the project. I feel like I am in the middle of a room and there are a dozen doors leading out of it and I don't know which one to take first. This could either be a really fun project or a real pain in the ____! If I just keep telling myself that it is for the glory of God and the furtherence of Gay Pride then it will be fun I'm sure.

How are things in Boston? Please give the Boston Church a big hello from the Springfield Family! Things here are moving right along. We are constantly growing. Our membership is just going up-up-up! I wouldn't be surprised if we outgrew our building very soon. Halleluia!!!!

Skip says to say hello. He isn't at home right now. He had to go have his car worked on. I dread to think what all I have to have done to Beula Mae (my car) within the next few months. She is due for a tune-up and oil change and a few what-nots. The what-nots are getting more expensive all the time.

Well, Kids, I had better get going for now. It is almost time for work. You all take care now and May God Bless.

saw this card and it brought back memories of rap groups..!

Let's face it, thrills are not cheap. Those little rubber items at the adult book store are downright expensive. But with a bit of ingenuity, there are plenty of playthings you can find around the house.

Zucchini's are a turn on. And you can cut them to size. Vacuum cleaners are quite erotic depending on the number of attachments you have. Of course, three-way lamp sockets are always good for a charge. And if you love the feel of leather, you might try kissing a Bass Wejun.

If you're into something kinky, it doesn't take a lot of money. It just takes a little imagination. After all, look what Marlon Brando did with a simple jar of strawberry jam.

I'll bring the Mazola.

Christmas 1981

Dear friends,

With continuing inflation again affecting the price of a postage stamp, the exchanging of Christmas cards becomes a diminishing phenomenon this holiday season. I covet this opportunity to greet and stay in touch with loved ones and old friends however.

This year in Peoria has been relatively uneventful. I continue to enjoy my job with the Veterans Administration Outpatient Clinic here, my house, yard, and garden, and maintaining and motoring in the Avanti. The present geography isn't as inspiring as most of the past geography has been in connection with my nomadic career of the past few years.

One of the high points of the past summer involved a visit from my sister and her family from Los Angeles. We took a two-day, 156 mile cruise up the Illinois River to Starved Rock State Park aboard our very own resident sternwheel steamboat, the Julia Belle Swain. For Pat, Erica, and myself, it was quite thrilling to be able to play the steam calliope aboard. The screeching could be heard for miles. George had a chance to pilot the boat back to Peoria for about 35 miles under the watchful eye of the pilot. If you had a chance to see the TV series about Mark Twain this past year on public television, you saw the Julia Belle and also parts of the stretch of the Illinois River that we traversed. The Illinois was chosen for the series because it more resembles the Mississippi River of Mark Twain's era.

Travelling and learning have been two very exciting combined activities this past year. One of my goals for 1985 involves achieving Fellowship with the Academy of General Dentistry. It is necessary to pass their exam and also to participate in at least 500 hours of continuing education in five years. In the past year it has been my pleasure to get smarter in New York City, Los Angeles, Chicago, Cleveland, Denver, Boston, and St. Louis. My job does allow time off for continuing education activities.

In closing, I do wish you all a blessed Christmas and only the best in 1982!

My love,

Bob

The artist, Joni Eareckson, paralyzed as a result of a tragic diving accident, has taught herself to sketch with a pen held between her teeth. Because it is her desire that the Author of her creativity be glorified, PTL (Praise the Lord) always appears with her signature.

Dear Marge,

So much has happened since we last spoke in August! I found myself having to make some decisions and take action. The biggest one is my new residence. I now live at the Women's Center. I am a part-time staff member; I have two rooms on the third floor.

I have been here for one month. It has been quite an experience.

My situation at Arnold St. had gotten much worse by the end of August. It became clear to me that I could not be free to know me at Arnold St.

Since that time I have come-out to a few more people. I feel much better about myself - more open about being gay - still realize that I need to be discreet in Providence.

Peggy and I are in a "fumbling" for understanding of one another" stage in our relationship. We will be marching in Washington on the weekend. I am really excited about it. My dear friend, Greg, is coming out from California to march. It will be good to see him and talk with him.

I heard from Mac that you are going to Australia. I guess

Dear Marge —

Great leaving from you! This time of year I miss Boston lots — especially when heard of your big storm: shades of days spent in Ho Jos and being snowbound on Portland St!

Please write and tell me how the church is doing and ESPECIALLY how Betty Spear & Wendy are — please give them my love as I send it to you and your family!

Guess what! Might go to CHINA this spring — have become a Chino-phile (and maybe won't come back!) Life is wonderful with us — Best for a peaceful + carefree
New Year! Love, Jan!

Dale Evans: 'God gave women equal rights'

WOMEN'S LIBBERS don't need man-made laws to make them equal — the Bible has done that for them, claims born-again Christian Dale Evans.

"Christianity has freed women from second-class citizenship," says Dale, who's been married to movie cowboy Roy Rogers for more than 30 years.

"It was Christ who truly set women free, who gave them a status equal with man," she adds. "He expected men and women to help each other and to work as equals. "We weren't created just to be man's helper, but to be his complement, too, the other half that makes the whole."

"Women can't afford to put men down and men can't put women down. We need each other and that's the way God meant it to be."

In her new book, Woman — Be All You Can Be (Fleming H. Revell Co.), Dale explains that women can live life to the fullest by following the Bible.

And she believes libbers should look hard at the Bible for guidance.

"Remember Esther in the Bible?" asks Dale, 67. "She was a woman whose clear judgment and intelligence matched her beauty — a simple Hebrew woman who was chosen to be the queen of the Kingdom of Persia."

When the Jews were threatened with annihilation in Persia, Esther prepared a banquet for her husband the king, and her enemy, and then pleaded for the lives of her people. The king listened to Esther, and hanged her enemy and his 10 sons.

"Esther used her power as a woman behind the throne," says Dale.

During lectures around the country, Dale discusses how the Bible has solutions for all the problems modern women face.

The career woman: "Some women are gifted and suited for professional life, but many are just as gifted and suited for the homemaker role. "Whatever her choice, "her works praise her in the gates of the city' (Proverbs 31:31).

Motherhood: "A successful career woman is commendable, says Dale, but motherhood is woman's greatest achievement."

"I can almost hear the cries of protest from many lib quarters," adds Dale. "But women can't deny the mothering instinct."

Living together: "The Bible says God is not mocked and a live-together affair is outright mockery of the man-woman relationship God intended."

Sharing child-raising: "I don't see anything wrong with a man helping with children and housework. But I can't understand a total role reversal."

What is hardest for Dale to understand is why women want to be liberated in the light of the role women have played in Christianity.

"God could have manifested Himself in the person of His son any way He chose," says Dale.

"He didn't need a woman to bear the anointed one. But He chose her just as the prophet Isaiah predicted."

"An awesome honor indeed, women."

Dear Marge ---

This is to congratulate you on your new post in Boston! You must be thrilled to be there -- what a church and what a city. I'm sure there are unfamiliar faces as well as familiar -- have you seen Betty Spear, Doug Kendall, Bobby, Margaret, Dick Penny?? I'd love to visit ^{the} congregation again; they're like a family I haven't seen in so long. And what about Wendy and Len and Jay? I'd love to hear a word about any of them!

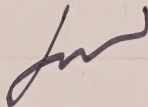

I also have some fantastic news; funny how things have come around in cycles for both of us -- you have returned to Boston this weekend and the same weekend, I've been told There's Something Wrong With You has actually found a legit publisher!! It's the Dramatic Publishing Company out of Chicago and on their letterhead they list plays like M*A*S*H, Scapino, and Cheaper By The Dozen and writers like Eugene O'Neill, Vonnegut, Archibald MacLeish and Stephen Sondheim. God bless the publisher who wrote to me, "I haven't the slightest idea if this play will sell widely but I'll try it." I've written back asking that I also illustrate it (including the cover). I can't even imagine making any money on TSWWY; trying to believe it might actually find an audience in the "real world" is exciting enough. I wanted to let you know. I think of the fun we had with TSWWY as one of our best Boston memories.

Another bit of news I hope you find inviting: the world-reknowned largest-gay-party-in-the-Midwest is about to take place in our backyard once again. I might have told you about it -- about 150 wonderful women and a liberal sprinkling of wonderful men playing volleyball, dancing in an inflated room, drinking beer and pop from a sailboat-turned-cooler, streamers, movies at night, just a wild, phenomenal time that has people exclaiming all year -- friendships are struck and loverships made at this gala event and people travel incredible distances to be there. Pepper Shields is coming from Los Angeles (and maybe Pam Pendleton, too!), Candice Naisbett is coming from Austin, Ginny Howell from Toronto, Carol Curious from Chicago (Brenda Hunt's new lover) and we would just love it if you could pack a car of Boston folks and bring yerselves. Anyway, you could get in touch with Wendy (of Joy Court) and Betty Spear??? They're two folks I'd especially love to see again -- besides you and the twerp of course. It's Saturday, June 27th all day and all night and a patch of floor is probably all we can offer but we'd love for you to accept! Let us know soon!

Well, that's the news and it's all good. Let me know how it goes.

Love,

Christmas 1980

Dear friends,

Greetings! I'm afraid that the annual "form letter" has become an entrenched tradition with me. Last year almost 200 cards were sent out. As I continue to migrate around the U.S., the list only continues to grow.

Please note another address change this year-not away from Peoria however. I bought a home here last February. Apartment living in various parts of the country has been a change during the past few years; I came to the point of yearning for a house again though. I now have a lovely little "New England-style" two-story older brick home complete with walk-up attic and full basement. It has a large yard so I have enjoyed the delights of yard work and planting a garden again - also shovelling snow(?)

Zeus has been made possible with a house. Zeus is an eleven month old black standard poodle puppy who now weighs in at 50+ pounds and should top 60. He is a joy.

My long love affair with the '68 Buick Riviera finally ended last April. I went to South Bend, IN and traded it for a '75 Avanti from the factory. (Remember the Studebaker Avanti of the early 60's)? They still hand-build 200-250 of these automobiles a year with the old Avanti fiberglass body, but with GM mechanical components. A zowie car!

After a year, the new VA clinic in Peoria is getting to be pretty well established. Getting a brand new dental service off the ground has been one of the greatest challenges of my dental career. I am still the only dentist but have two very capable women assisting me. We do almost all of our own lab work, do the sterilization for the entire clinic, I am the administrator, and occasionally I get time to do a little dentistry. I do enjoy my work here though.

A Beautiful Christmas and a "Best-Yet" New Year!

THE CALIFORNIA POPPY (State Flower)

The huge fields of annual Spring Wild-flowers once known throughout the state is constantly being reduced by progress as we know it. Areas where these vast acres still exist are fantastic drawing attraction to the week-end sightseer. The phrase, "You must see it to believe it," is a fact

Dear Marge - before settling into all the work last week has generated, and the trip that piled up while I was gone - I wanted to just pass on a few things to you - like, THANK YOU, like, I'm glad you held me while I cried, like, gosh I'm glad I know you...

Those words look a bit sterile on paper, and I mean them very emotionally. I came home from Florida so very full & excited about new things, new people & new opportunities - and a whole new list of people to pray for -

Consider yourself hugged real tight - looking forward to seeing you before Gen Con. [THE Great Lakes Dist Conf. is MAY 13-14+15 in Dayton - if you can make it we'll find housing.]
